Fonts

Consistency in the use of typeface plays an important role in infographics, communications products and in reinforcing the project's image.

The Noto family of fonts can be downloaded directly at <https://fonts.google.com>.

When designing dashboards in Power BI, please use Segoe UI as a replacement for Noto.

All the selected fonts are free and open source typefaces. If for any reasons they can't be installed on your machine please use Arial as an option of last resort.

Colors

To reinforce Project 21's connection to protection (and the Global Protection Cluster), as well as highlighting the project's location in the Sahel region, it was decided to use a sandy color called Amber.

The color Amber also has the advantage making Project 21 stand out from the UN agencies, who are normally represented by shades of blue.

Although extra colors are available for your data visualization and mapping needs, you should always prioritize the primary color. It should be sufficient for most of your products.

If you need more colors for your categories, follow the order presented here: Amber, Cyan, Purple, Green, Red, Grey then Yellow.
